

RIVER CLUB REVIEW

A Member of the Litchfield by the Sea Communities

RCCO President's Message

With the arrival of March, we can look in the rearview weather mirror and hopefully say goodbye to what was a fairly mild winter. We deserve that after our experience with Hurricane Matthew.

Your RCCO Board, with approval from Litchfield By The Sea, has completed a couple of necessary projects here in River Club. There are others that will be underway soon. Here is a brief summary.

- I hope you like the new street signs. They certainly compliment our area, welcoming visitors with easy to read wording both day and night. Yes, we did have a couple of misspellings, but hopefully, by the time you are reading this those signs have been replaced.
- Club Circle, from Maintenance Road to the back gate, has been marked for "bump removal". Watch for brief road closures. Use the breaks in the medians to maneuver around the construction. Please, do not drive on or over the median.

- The Carrington Drive gazebo has a fresh coat of paint and the common area curbing throughout Carrington Point has been cleaned, removing the dirt and rust stains. I hope this will encourage all residents to take a look at their properties and see if their curbing, driveways, sidewalks, and mailbox posts are also in need of a cleaning. Let's all do our part to enhance the look of River Club.

- Most of the benches throughout our community have been removed due to rapid deterioration. The plan is to install replacement benches of higher quality, attached to cement slabs, sometime this spring.

Currently our turkey buzzard issue seems to be resolving itself. A large number of the birds seem to have moved on. Possibly, they heard about their fate if they continued to be a nuisance here in the River Club. They are a federally protected species and the need for a special permit is required to try to chase them away. This will be discussed at the March LBTS Board Meeting

Thanks to everyone for making River Club a great place to live.
